OUR CONTRIBUTORS.

We wish to take this opportunity to thank our contributors, alumni and professors, who have so liberally helped us in this issue.

Mr. J. H. Howe, author of "Emergencies in the Bridge and Building Department of a Railroad," is a member of the class of '90. Mr. Howe is supervisor of the Bridge and Building Department of the Nebraska Division for the Union Pacific Railroad Company, with headquarters at Omaha, Neb.

Mr. R. G. Call, author of "Cable Troubles," is a member of the class of '03. Mr. Call is with the New York and New Jersey Telephone Company at Newark, New Jersey.

B. J. Lambert, who gives us the article on "Water Power Plant of the State University of Iowa," is a graduate of the class of '01. He is assistant professor in civil engineering in our College of Applied Science, State University of Iowa.

Professor William G. Raymond, who describes the "New Engineering Building," and writes on "Locomotive Problems," is the Dean of our College of Applied Science. He received his Civil Engineering degree at Washington University, St. Louis, Mo., in 1884, and the degree of LL.D. in 1905.

Professor Raymond is a member of the American Society of Civil Engineers, Sigma Xi, Society for the Promotion of Engineering Education, New England Water Works Association, New York Railway Club, Rensselaer Society of Engineers, and Phi Kappa Psi. He is the author of "Plane Surveying," and numerous technical papers.

We are not only indebted to Professor Raymond for these articles, but for the many other ways in which he has helped us.

Professor Bohumil Shimek, author of "Wood Preservation," is a member of the class of '83, and also received an M. S. degree in '92. Professor Shimek is Professor of Physiological Botany, Professor of Botany in the College of Pharmacy, and Curator of the Herbarium, University of Iowa, at Iowa City, Ia.

Mr. F. E. Koeper, who has written upon engineering trips, is a member of the Mining Engineering class of '06.

We also wish to express our appreciation to Professor C. S. Magowan, who assisted us in getting our Alumni Directory revised.
